From ORDER to CASH with electronic messaging

An easy-to-follow introduction to electronic data interchange (EDI) and standardised business messages.

Learn how and why replacing paper-based orders, despatch advices and invoices with GS1 standard electronic messages, can increase the accuracy and efficiency of your supply chain while reducing costs.

Date: 28th & 29th November 2012
Please note this is a two-day course.

Location: GS1 Offices, Dublin

Course Fee: €375 per person

Registration: Log on to www.gs1ie.org or email training@gs1ie.org

A GS1 EDI Training Course

GS1 EDI Course Overview

This introductory course provides students with a full understanding of all aspects of electronic trading (EDI). The course begins with an overview of the need for standards and gradually builds up to the construction of EDI messages. A high level of participation is encouraged to ensure that the course is enjoyable and interactive. The GS1 Introduction to EDI Course is broken into 3 sessions which are spread over two days. The core topics covered are:

Part 1

- Introduction to GS1 Standards
- GS1 Numbers (GTINs, GLNs etc)
- Identification Number Allocation Rules
- Product Hierarchies

Part 2

- Basics of GS1 Electronic Messaging
- EDIFACT Syntax and Rules
- Constructing an EDIFACT Message
- Introduction to EANCOM Communications Protocols

Part 3

- Specific EDI messages in detail (order, despatch advice and invoice)
- How to construct an EANCOM Message

Did you know?

By using GS1 eCom standards for the order-to-cash process, member companies can save up to €48 per transaction.

Who Should Attend?

This course has been organised for manufacturers, distributors and solution providers who require an understanding of the GS1 global standards for eCommerce electronic commercial transactions. The course is also suitable for any organisation that is planning to roll out or extend their EDI use with their trading partners.

If you work in the IT, Logistics or Accounts area of your organisation and are responsible for the transition to eCommerce, you will find this course of benefit.

Others who have completed this course held roles in the following areas:

- IT Management
- Logistics and Supply Chain
- Finance
- Administration.

If you are new to EDI in your role, or your company has just been asked to trade electronically with a retail partner, then this course will give you the what, why and how of EDI in an easy-to-follow and non-technical way. The course has been created by GS1 Ireland experts with a thorough knowledge of eMessaging and its implementation in Ireland.

For information on all GS1 events and training courses log on to www.gs1ie.org

Event Registration Form

To register for this event simply log on to www.gs1ie.org, email your details to training@gs1ie.org or fax the form below to 01 208 0670. Payment can be made by cheque or by telephoning 01 208 0660 to pay by credit card.

Attendee Information

Company Name

Company Address

Delegate Name

Tel

Email

GS1 Membership Number   Non Member ☐

PO Number

Course Selection (please tick):

28th and 29th November 2012   €375 ☐

Payment Method (please tick):

Credit / Debit Card ☐   Bank Transfer ☐   Cheque ☐

Credit / Debit Card Details

Cardholder Name

Card Number

CVV   Expiry Date

Signature _____

GS1 Ireland Bank Transfer Details

Bank of Ireland, Merrion Road, Dublin 4. Sort Code 90-12-12 Account Number 53801709

GS1 Bookings and Cancellations Policy: Full payment is required prior to the training course date. Refunds are not available but places are transferrable upon prior notice. GS1 reserves its right to cancel or postpone courses due to unforeseen circumstances.

GS1 - The Global Language of Business

GS1 Ireland
2nd Floor The Merrion Centre,
Nutley Lane, Donnybrook,
Dublin 4, Ireland

T +353 1 208 0660
F +353 1 208 0670
E info@gs1ie.org

www.gs1ie.org